1. How do you think your journey at BCM School contributed to building the confidence and communication skills that are now the foundation of your success as Mrs. Punjab 2021, Mrs. Ludhiana 2021, and the founder of Oakwood English Academy?

I feel truly blessed to be a part of BCM School, as whatever I am today is largely because of the strong foundation this institution has given me. My journey at BCM played a vital role in shaping my personality, building my confidence, and polishing my communication skills. The encouragement I received from my teachers and the numerous opportunities to participate in debates, stage performances, and cultural events helped me overcome stage fear and express myself with clarity and poise, which later became the driving force behind my achievements as Mrs. Punjab 2021, Mrs. Ludhiana 2021, and the Founder of Oakwood English Academy.

2. BCM School emphasizes holistic development beyond academics — what values or life lessons from your school days continue to guide and inspire you in your entrepreneurial journey with Oakwood English Academy?

BCM School has always emphasized holistic growth, and the values I learned there continue to guide me every single day in my entrepreneurial journey. One of the greatest lessons I gained was the power of confident communication. Today, I know how to connect with my clients effectively and handle every situation with calmness and clarity.

3. How has the visionary leadership of Principal Mr. D.P. Guleria influenced or inspired you in shaping your own leadership style as a founder and public personality?

Mr. D.P. Guleria has never been just a principal — he has been a true visionary and a guiding light for every student of BCM. His leadership has always been rooted in progressive thinking, ensuring that the foundation of the school remains connected with the latest ideas and a forward-looking vision. Under his guidance, learning was never limited to books; it was about developing the courage to dream big and the confidence to achieve those dreams.

He encouraged us to step beyond our comfort zones, to speak fearlessly, and to believe in our potential.

4. What message would you like to share with current BCMites who aspire to follow their passion and make a mark in creative, educational, or entrepreneurial fields like you have?

To all the bright BCMites — never stop believing in your dreams. My own journey began right here at BCM, where I once stood shy and unsure, afraid to speak on stage. But this school transformed me — it gave me confidence, courage, and the power to express myself.

So, dream big, work hard, and stay grounded. BCM has already lit the spark within you — now it's your turn to turn that spark into a shining flame of success.
